The Buildings of the Virginia Penitentiary Destroyed by Fire—The Fiend Elsewhere.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 31.—Soon after five this morning the buildings of the Virginia penitentiary, leased by the Davis shoe company of Boston, and operated as a shoe factory, was discovered on fire. The flames spread rapidly and the buildings were totally destroyed, with all the machinery and stock. The loss to the shoe company is estimated from $150,000 to $175,000. Buildings were state property. Loss $25,000.

GOING MAD.

The Wild Ravings of a Girl Who Had Been Bitten by a Dog.

BELLAIR, MICH., Jan. 31.—While Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Woolsey where visiting relatives in Southern Michigan last August, a dog ran upon the veranda, and Lillie Woolsey, the doctor's little daughter, went out to play with it. She stooped over to pat his head; when the brute snapped at her and one tooth slightly abraided the skin near the nose. The usual precautions were taken. A few days ago Lillie, who is ten years old, showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and she is now unable to control her actions. She is violent, and when not restrained, runs about biting and snapping like a dog. She glares with the ferocity of an angry animal, writhes in agony, froths at the mouth, and is rapidly developing the final stages of the terrible disease.

At times she is possessed of the strength of two men and it is very difficult to restrain her. In her calm moments she realizes the danger of her parents and begs them to look out while she is in her paroxysms. She says she feels like biting everybody, and although in her spasms recognizing her parents, is unable to control her desire to snap at them. Death must soon relieve the little one.

BLAINE AND CLEVELAND.

The Views of a Millionaire Republican on the Two Party Leaders.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 31.—Charles A. Pillsbury, the well-known millionaire and political boss, who knows a thing or two about politics, has just returned from an extended eastern trip. He sits down on the fond hopes of Mr. Blaine and the Blaine boomers in vigorous style. Here are some of the things he said:

"Blaine can not be elected, and his nomination means defeat. Personally, I don's want to see him president. The young men who do the whooping up do a good deal of talking for Blaine, but the older heads don't agree with them.

"Cleveland is the favorite with his party, and will get another nomination certainly. Very few are sanguine enough to think Blaine could carry New York—in fact, they rather think it would go overwhelmingly for Cleveland. The anti-Blaine men are good republicans, but they distrust Blaine and his policy. If the issue were Blaine or Cleveland, most of them would vote for Cleveland. Conservative republicans think that an entirely new candidate must be nominated—some, at present, dark horse, and with such a man at the head of the ticket, a good, clean man, there will be no doubt of a republican victory. I think the tariff reform is going to cut both ways next fall. Every one is glad the issue was forced by the president, but for different reasons. A fair judgement, I think, is that it will almost recreate party lines. They will be divided on a new basis, and a generous slice will be cut from each."

Columbus Teacher Suicides.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—Eugene Tafele, principal of a Columbus school, who drew about $800 in money due his teachers Friday and disappeared, suicided at the new Johnson house by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. He left letters stating that he had gambled away the money at a room managed be Long and Wyat, on High street, and chose death rather than go to the penitentiary. A dispatch from Columbus states that Frank Wyat, the gambler, on learning of the suicide, hunted up a detective and turned over to him $600 lost Friday by a man supposed to be Tafele, and requested that it be paid to the teachers if it proved he was the man.

THE OLDEST MINISTER.

Rev. David Lathrop Hunn Dies in Buffalo at the Age of Ninety-eight.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Rev. David Lathrop Hunn, the eldest graduate of Yale college, and the oldest clergyman of the United States, died Sunday, after a week's illness. He was slightly blind and deaf, but preserved his faculties almost to the last, having preserved his membership in the Rochester Presbytery and preached within two years to the grandchildren of his former parishioners at Sandrich, Conn. He was first a Congregational minister, but embraced Presbyterianism many years ago. Rev. Mr. Hunn celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday on November 5 last, when he talked freely with his visitors and seemed to take considerable interest in current events. His only antipathy was to Sunday newspapers.

Blue for White.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Things look a little blue for Congressman White, of the Fort Wayne district. The republicans may stand by him with a solid front, but they have rather poor ground to stand on, so far as has been yet developed. White has been unable to prove, so far, by the necessary kind of evidence, that he was naturalized before he was elected to congress. Even the fact that he served in the army does not seem likely to prove of value to him in this matter.

Foreign News.

DUBLIN, Jan., 31.—Michael Davitt, speaking at Rathkeale to-day, advised the tenants of Lord Gullimore not to accept the offer made to them to purchase their farms, because heavy burdens would soon accrue, and mortgages would turn the farms over again to other hands, and also because Lord Guillamore had evicted two tenants from his estate.

Big Cigar Factory.

KEY WEST, Fla., 31.—Eduardo H. Gato, the "king of Havana cigar manufacturers," will shortly build in this city the largest cigar manufactory in the United States. The building is to be of brick, iron and stone, with a capacity of 200,000 cigars a day. The Cuban troubles, it is said, was one cause of the removal.

Two Cowboys Killed.

RAPID CITY, Dak., Jan. 31.—Yesterday two cowboys named Arthur and Potts, attempted to run the town of Buffalo Gap, a station on the Elkhorn road, forty miles south of here, when the citizens turned out in full force and killed both of them. Who fired the shots no one knows or wants to know.

Hopkin's Trial.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—The testimony in the trial of Benjamin E. Hopkins, late assistant cashier of the Fidelity bank closed yesterday, and the arguments began. As the court does not restrict attorneys, the case will probably not go to the jury before to-morrow.

THE ICE GORGE

In the Mississippi River Breaks at St. Louis and Crashes Into $1,500,000 Worth of Property.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—The ice gorge in front of the city began to move at midnight last night, but stopped until 10 o'clock this morning, when the January thaw loosened the mass and it slowly crashed down upon nearly $1,500,000 worth of property, which it is now slowly grinding into ruins.

The ice is piled up from eighteen to twenty feet thick already. Several barges have been sunk and also the steamers Tamm, Mattie Belle, and Hayes. The Hayes, the large excursion steamer, the property of the anchor line, is a total wreck, valued at $80,000. The Mattie Belle is a fine large freight boat. The Tamm was a ferry boat. The wharf boat of the Alton and Grafton railroad company was swept away. The steamer City of Monroe snapped her lines at noon and is a wreck. Captain Mason and Mr. Zeeberger were badly injured.

As will be seen by an advertisement, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue, Root & Co., have decided to continue their cost sale during the remainder of this week. Their stock comprises everything in the market, and those who wish to take advantage of their low prices should visit the store this week.

The great cost sale of Root and company will continue during the balance of the week, owing to their inability to commence inventory before next Monday. Every article in their mammoth establishment is sold at cost during that time and customers should avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to secure bargains in the best of goods.

The Journal this morning in its attack on Dr. J. S. Irwin, superintendent of the public schools, does that gentleman great injustice. Dr. Irwin, in enforcing the sanitary school regulations, Dr. Stemen tells us, has simply complied with the state law and observed the rules promulgated by the state board of health. Dr. Irwin is out of the city at present, at the bedside of his sick daughter and not able to reply to the Journal article. We feel that our contemporary will give him an opportunity to set himself right, for he certainly can do it.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

The Young Horse Thieves Arraigned in Court.

Last night Sheriff Viberg and his deputy, Mr. Tom Wilkinson, came in from Churubusco with Nathan and Dan Amstead, the young men who stole a mare from Fred Lehneke, of Lake township, Sunday night.

They were arraigned before Justice France this morning and in default of $1,000 bail in each case, they were remanded to jail for trial.

The boys say they stole the wrong animal and claim that their home is in Noble county.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

But He Was Compelled to do it to Save Other Members of the Family.

WATERVILLE, ME, Jan. 31.—Yesterday at Center Sidney, a town adjoining Augusta, Edward Wentworth, 40 years old, was fatally shot. He had a family of thirteen children, all of whom were at home except one. He Has very cruel to them.

Sunday evening, after beating his wife, he struck a daughter and threw her down and was choking her, when his wife remonstrated. He leaped up, exclaiming: "I will kill you! I will kill all of you!" He started to get a revolver, but one of his sons grabbed it and put a bullet through his father's heart.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 31.—The carpenters have notified their employers that on the of first May next they will demand an advance in wages of ten per cent.

ENJOINED AGAIN.

Judge Chapin Says the Council Shall Not Impeach the Water Works Trustees.

At four o'clock last evening T. B. Hedekin, J. F. W. Meyer and E. B. Kunckle, the water works trustees, applied to Judge A. A. Chapin for an order straining the city council from going ahead with the impeachment proceedings it proposed to institut against them this evening.

The question was vigorously argued and taken under advisement until 11 o'clock this morning. The judge, at that hour, reviewed the case in all its bearings. He absolved the trustees from intended wrong, did the same handsome thing for the council with a desire to soften feelings but because he did not believe the charges against the trustees constituted malfeasance in office, he denied the council's right to try the trustees and issued a restraining order until February 21, when he expressed a willingness to air the case again.

City Attorney Colerick denied Judge Chapin's jurisdiction in the matter and will at once appeal the case to the supreme court of the state.

The council will not impeach anybody to-night, and it is probable that the angry controversy may be compromised. It would not be a bad way out of the difficulty, for it seems there is no end to injunctions.

BIG DAMAGE SUITS.

Jacob Felger and Henry Bredemeyer Want $5,000 Each.

This morning, Jacob Felger, a Lake township farmer, filed suit against the Peters Box and Lumber company to recover $5,000. Mr. O. N. Heaton penned the complaint and relates how a team of horses belonging to the company were permitted to stand untied on Calhoun street. The animals ran away, it will be be recalled, and at the corner of Main street they ran into and trampled upon Mr. Felger while he was crossing the street. His ribs were fractured and he was otherwise hurt.

Henry Bredemeyer, through his attorney, Mr. W. P. Breen, sues John and Henry Taylor for $5,000. They run the old Jacoby planing mill, where the claimant was employed to operate a machine. He alleges the company did not give him assistance and in the discharge of his duties, November 25, last, the fingers and thumb of his right hand were cut off by the planer knives. He prays for the relief stated.

Since writing the above another damage suit is recorded. Adolph S. Deutsche sues Weil Brothers, the hide dealers, to recover $1,500 damages. He claims that the Messrs. Weil deceived him in goods they sold to him. Randall & Vesey are attorneys for the claimant.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

General Manager Williams and Party Visit the Nickel Plate Shops—The News Budget.

Lewis Hudry, an apprentice boy in the Bass foundry, is on the sick list.

The railroad ticket agents say passenger business is picking up somewhat.

The Bass works have placed a new six foot grind stone in the machine shops.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad company will build a new depot at Wooster, O.

Charles Hensell, the resident engineer of the Wabash road at Springfield, Ill., was in the city yesterday.

D. H. Caldwell, of the Nickel Plate dispatcher's office, is confined to his bed, threatened with an attack of pluero-pneumonia.

P. H. Hartman, a helper in the moulding rooms of the Bass foundry, is being congratulated over the arrival of a girl baby at his home.

The clerks in the Pittsburg works have completed their monthly reports and sent them into Shop Clerk Meegan's office.

There are a number of prominent railroad men who take an active interest in the Young Men's Christian association.

The boys in the Nickel Plate shops were on their good behavior yesterday when the big moguls of the road passed through.

C. R. Higgins, the chief clerk in Superintendent Law's office, is at home in operating a telegraph instrument and frequently sends his own telegraph messages.

Charles Cherry, of Shop Clerk Meghan's office, is at the desk in the office of the Pittsburg machine shops during the absence of J. H. Sloan at Englewood. He is the acting clerk of the department.

To-morrow the Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw company will move its headquarters from Van Wert to Toledo. A. H. Johnson will be given the title of traffic manager and will look after both freight and passenger business.

One half of the employes of the Wabash shops were off duty yesterday and the other half to-day. The Wabash is afraid its pay roll will be too large for the month and this is the reason the men take turns in remaining idle.

J. H. Fry, the pleasant clerk in Storekeeper Cox's office of the Pennsylvania company, always has an orange on his desk when the reporter passes through the office. He is a great lover of the fruit.

Several well known train men started the new year with a temperance pledge and they have been true to it. They will be richer and happier at the end of the year if they keep it and will rise a hundred fold in the estimation of their employers.

Calvin S. Wheaton, grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway conductors, is still in Washington, looking after the conductor and engineer license bill, of which he is the father. He is said to be quite confident that the bill will pass during this session of congress.

Alexander Jobst is an employe at the Bass Foundry and Machine works. Yesterday while he was at work repairing the turn table in the works a heavy piece of timber fell and mashed his foot quite severely. The injury will confine him to his home for some time. He lives on Oak street.

J. H. Sloan, the clerk in the Pittsburg shop, received a telegram from Englewood last night announcing that his wife's mother, Mrs. Sarah Hough, was dying. He left on the first train for her bed-side. Mrs. Hough is an estimable lady 75 years of age and her home is at Englewood. Mrs. Sloan has been with her mother during her sickness.

The latest returns show that 41,852 freight cars were built in this country last year at car shops. The last two years, reported in Poor's Manual, show six and a half freight cars per mile of road in this country. At this rate, the Railroad Gazette says, to keep pace with new railroad construction 103,000 cars should have been built last year. This in part accounts for the scarcity of cars during the last few months.

The largest and fastest passenger engine ever built is said to have been turned out of the Rhode Island locomotive works at Providence, for the New York, Providence and Boston Railroad company. She was designed to make the run from Providence to Groton, Conn., a distance of 62.5 miles including a dead stop at Mystic draw bridge, as required by the statutes of Connecticut, in just 62.5 minutes, pulling at the same time eight cars, four of them Pullmans.

General Manager Williams, accompanied by Superintendent of Motive Power John McKenzie, Master Mechanic W. H. Lewis and A. S. Work, general foreman of engineers and firemen, arrived in the city yesterday on No. 3. Mr. Williams' private car was attached to the train. The party was met here by Superintendent C. D. Gorman, who escorted the gentlemen to the company's works. After a close inspection of the departments the party returned to the city, remaining all night. Mr. Williams' private car was attached to No. 3 this afternoon, when the distinguished party left for Chicago, at which place they will make a tour of inspection of the company's mammoth works

TUESDAY, JAN. 31, 1888.

The debate on the Lowry-White contest promises to be one of the events of congressional session.

The New York Star claims to have information that the Bell Telephone company is about to enter the field of long distance telephoning in opposition to the Western Union telegraph. Misfortunes never come singly.

The friends of Judge Gresham, of Indiana, are gently pushing forward his presidential "boom." They are inclined to think that Gresham is a good dark horse and likely to come under the wire first. Harrison will have the Indiana delegates to the Chicago convention, but Gresham's backers take comfort in the fact that the Ohio delegates were for Sherman in the convention which finally nominated Garfield.

In view of the fact that there was a decrease in the cost of production last year and an incaease in the selling price of coal, it is hardly surprising that the miners should ask for higher wages. The financial report of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company for 1887 shows a profit, after paying interest on the capitalization, of $1,448,482. That may not be enough to warrant a considerable increase in the wages of 20,000 men, but it is enough to suggest to the men that they ought to get more, especially as the price of coal has been largely advanced. If the company extorts monopoly prices, the men not unnaturally want a share of the spoil.

The Indianapolis News, a republican journal, referring editorially to the Lowry-White contest advises a departure from the present mode of determining such cases. It says: "The decision in the Lowry-White case is denounced by republican papers as one dictated by partisanship at the expense of justice. It may be so. But it is pertinent to remember that in all the years in which the republicans had the control of things they never amended the conditions from which partisan decisions in such cases come. Like the democrats with the southern returning boards which they denounced so virtuously when worked against them, instead of abolishing them when they secured control they retained and worked them. So long as congress has the decision of contested election cases so long partisanship will mold the decision. The thing to do and do at once is to pass a law taking all such cases out of the hands of congress and put them in the courts where no exigencies of party can smother justice."

Hon. James S. Rollins, who died a few days ago at his home in Columbia, Mo., was for many years a prominent figure in Missouri politics, and was one of the most widely known men in the State. His career as a politician and a legislator was marked by many great deeds. He was born in Richmond, Ky., in 1812, and was 76 years of age when he died. He went with his parrents to Missorui early in his youth, and with them settled in Boone County. He served several terms in the State Legislature, and in 1860 was sent to Congress. In 1862 he was sent to Congress again, and in this session he introduced the bill the outcome of which was the construction of the Union Pacific, the Kansas Pacific, and the Central Pacific Railroads. He was appointed one of the directors of the Union Pacific in 1867 by President Johnson. In 1868 his district sent him back to the State Senate, where he did good work until his withdrawl from active participation in politics. Mr. Rollins was an intensely patriotic Union man, one of the most prominent in the State, and was a firm adherent of the old Whig party when that party went out of existence. He was equally identified with the American party, which succeeded it, and on the dissolution of the American party he took sides with the Democratic party, being a great personal friend of Gen. Frank P. Blair. Mr. Rollins stood by the Democrats until the year 1880, when he cast his vote for Garfield, and in 1884 he voted for Blaine.

German is to be eliminated from the course of study in the public schools of St. Louis as the result of the elections for members of the School Board in that city a few months ago, when the question was made an issue. The report will be adopted beyond a doubt. Some years ago St. Louis was the model "German public-school" city in America. In no other was the Teutonic tongue carried to such a degree of perfection, and in no other city were the results so satisfactory. But even then it was but a comparative, not an absolute, success. Even the children of German parents did not take to it very kindly, and for children of English-speaking parents the study was a profitless task. After leaving school they made no use of the smattering there acquired, The elimination of the study was called for long ago.

Aboit News.

Mr. Emri Sites of Green county, Ind., is visiting his brother, Mr. Mall Sites of this place.

Mrs. Wm. Trainer, an aged lady living a short distance east of here, is dangerously ill.

The next thing that Aboit will be apt to do is to sink a gas well, and if successfull can be piped to Fort Wayne very easily.

Mr. William Lahmon is lying at the point of death at his residence. Medical skill avails nothing in his case and the cancer in his stomach is rapidly growing larger.

John March, of Giddingsville, was much surprised the other morning when his eldest son came bouncing into his home. John threw up his hat, clapped his hands, and shouted, "Its a boy;" "Its a boy."

Mr. Samuel Ewart we are glad to hear is recovering from his long siege of sickness.

A party of our young folks went to a spelling school at Liberty last night in a big wagon. The next day complaints could be heard from every side about the roughness of the roads.

A serious accident occurred at Mr. Cal Bowman's last week. They were moving their saw mill engine, and in descending a steep and icy hill the neckyoke broke and the engine becoming unmanageable rolled over down the hill. Mr. Bowman estimates the dammage done to the engine at nearly $100.

An Aboit Institute.

A township teachers' institute was held at the Centre school house in Lafayette township, Saturday, Jan. 21st 1888. Eight schools were represented by their teachers. After the customary opening by the trustee we were favored with a song of "Welcome" by a double quartette which was composed principally of teachers. After this the following officers were elected: Trustee, Bowersock; president, J. H. Aiken; secretary, H. E. Kelsey, critic. At 11 o'clock the exercises commenced by Miss Emma Kelsey, who explained grammar. After this Miss Gruber read quite an interesting essay upon "History." After being entertained by instrumental music the institute was adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon session was opened with music entitled, "Ha! ha! We've Stemed the Stream," by the quartet.

Mr. Keplinger explained simple interest and illustrated by placing problems upon the board.

F. L. Brock explained his method of teaching spelling.

Miss Clara Crawford showed how she taught geography.

J. H. Aiken endeavored to explain how to teach oral physiology.

H. E. Kelsey explained longitude and time.

Miss McGoogan favored us with an entertaining recitation.

Miss Isabel Crow talked upon school management. The institute closed with music, entitled, "We All Have a Very Bad Cold," by the quartet. There were quite a number of teachers present from other townships. Among them were Messers. G. W. and S. D. Keim, Miss Kiser and Miss Ollie Guthrie. The institute adjourned to meet at some time in the near future.

A. Bowersock, Pres.
John H. Aiken, Secy.

New Jersey has a Baptist minister who claims to have baptized more people than any other man in his church. The community in which he resides has been grieved over his stubborn cough that has interfered with his pastorial duties. A physician recommended Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and consequently there will be baptism in his church next Sunday.

Teachers' Institute.

The Pleasant township teachers' institute met at district No. 4, with W. S. McComb, of the Sheldon school, in the chair and a fine audience present. "How to Teach the First Reader Grade," was the subject of a creditable paper by Miss Jennie Webster.

Following this was a talk on the nervous system, by F. Kinerk.

Miss L. St. John then gave her method of teaching percentage, which was well received.

On motion of Mr. Kinerk, institute adjourned for dinner, after which, on reassembling, Miss Maggie Goshorn illustrated her method of teaching reading.

C. Winters then solved a problem in annual interest to illustrate his plan of teaching it.

"Practical Education" was the subject of a paper by R. D. Chenoweth.

W. S. McComb spoke on "The Use of the Dictionary."

W. F. Boshler favored the institute with a paper on "General Education."

The trustee, William Dalman, spoke of the day's work in very flattering terms, thanked the patrons for their presence and declared himself in favor of another "literary picnic."

The institute adjourned to meet Feb. 18, 1888, at district No. 2, Pleasant township.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by expelling impurity from the blood, which is the cause of the complaint. Give it a trial.

Joel Parker, the Democratic ex-Governor of New Jersey who died not long ago, weighed 300 pounds, and there is little doubt that his death was hastened by his enormous appetite. He always gratified his tastes to the uttermost, and never stooped to inquire whether an artirle of food was good for him or not. He was the wonder of the waiters at every hotel and restaurant where he dined. He invariably went twice through the bill of fare. He was the last to finish at a dinner, yet so admirable seemed his digestion that, after out-eating all the other guests, he could make a capital speech, full of unctuous humor and sound common sense He drank very little, water being his favorite beverage, and therefore his head was always clear, even if his stomach was overloaded.

An Opportune Movement.

Castle Garden is known to be the gateway through which all the emigrants landing at New York pass before being distributed to various parts of the country. The great influx of foreigners can be judged when we take into account that eighty-four large steamships arrive every month and land their emigrants at this point. A new enterprise is being started at Castle Garden which proposes to establish an emigrant's home and industrial training school.

Mrs. R. S. Rust gives some idea of the proposed work in the following: "This movement is specially important in connection with the question of city evangelization. A large proportion of the vice and misery abounding in large cities is owing to such facts as these: The people depreciate the dignity of labor, are ignorant of any occupation by which an honest living may be secured, and of the economics essential to home making. Every avenue of employment offering any inducement is crowded by young women anxious to secure self support. A large majority of the applicants are unable to do anything well. It is not surprising that 10,000 girls a year are lost in the maelstrom of a single city. This wrong might be largely remedied if the youth were given industrial training, shown the advantage of a skilled labor, and assured of employment. If instruction could provided for girls in all branches of home service, cooking, sewing, dress making, in bookkeeping, stenography, type setting, etc., and provision could be made for distributing these trained workmen over the country where their skill and strength are in demand, incalculable good could be secured its young girls."—Chicago News

Governor Gordon's Favorite Dishes.

Governor Gordon, of Georgia, on being asked to name his favorite dishes, said: "I was reared in the country on a farm, and have never ceased to prefer the living which was usual upon plantations before the war. I am fond of corn bread and rich milk and fresh butter, with all the usual products of the farm, especially spareribs, backbones and souse. My favorite dessert for summer is blackberry pie and for winter the old fashioned sweet potato pudding. I also keep up the habit of my early boyhood, not of hunting 'possums, but of buying one occasionally and having it cooked in the most approved style and laid away to get cold. I always have it cooked with sweet potatoes around it. This is not only the mode established by immemorial custom, but it is the best. I have one at my house now, already cooked. I will not admit, as is customary now, that the southern habit of having hot breads and hot batter cakes for breakfast is unwholesome. My own experience is that the most severe attacks of indigestion I ever had was from eating a cold luncheon. One of the cherished memories of my life was my experience with the little negroes and white boys around the fire hog killing days, broiling on the coal hog melts and eating them with corn bread and salt. I think it would make me ten years younger to have that sort of experience now."—Chicago News.

Facts Concerning Respiration.

According to Dr. Walshe, a medical writer of distinction, the agricultural woman, who is ignorant of stays, breathes more like a man than the town female. During sleep, too, the conditions of pectoral and ventral breathing of the female, he tells us, are much less strikingly different from those of the male in the waking state, the waist being, for the time, relieved from constriction. Of the lower animals, the male and female dog and the horse and mare breathe almost exactly alike. Dr. Mays, of Philadelphia, has also come to the conclusion, after a careful study of the respiratory movements of Indian girls in the Lincoln institution, who had always worn loose clothing, that, "so far as the Indian is concerned, the abdominal is the original type of respiration in both male and female, and that the costal type in the civilized female is developed through the constricting influence of dress around the abdomen."—New York Sun.

Danger of Centralization.

The tendency toward a paternal form of government at Washington in the last twenty-five years has been marked and eminently mischievous. Such a form of government is more fatal to the welfare of our people than such even in any part of Europe. The centralized powers in Europe, geographically considered, are really specimens of home rule compared to ours. Abroad there is in each instance a compact body with a community of interests that places the government in direct contact with the governed. We, on the contrary, have a sparse population spread over a continent wide as all Europe, and to have such a power as this proposed at Washington, with all our diversity of interests to be legislated for, is to build above us, under the name of a republic, a dense and odious despotism. It is not only death to liberty, but degredation, for it is done in violation of our written constitutional law.—New York Star.

Hale Proves Cleveland a Democrat.

On the whole, Mr. Hale's great effort must be called pretty small potatoes. The part of his speech which is disingenuous or false need not be considered by fair minded men. The part which is essentially true, that is to say, his charge that Mr. Cleveland has been getting into harmony with the Democratic party, is a charge which the Democrats will admit to be a true bill, and they are glad of it.—New York Sun.

The Nation's Favorite.

Mrs. Cleveland's favorite flower is the lily of the valley, the sentiment of which is the "return of happiness." She has certainly returned a great deal of happiness in and around the capital, not to speak of many returns of the same in different parts of the country.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Books as a Substitute for Life.

Books are good enough in their own way, but they are a mighty bloodless substitute for life. It seems a pity to sit, like the Lady of Shalott, peering in a mirror, with your back turned on all the bustle and glamour of reality.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Some of the Republican organs are amazed to discover that the Republican supreme court is in favor of state rights. The organs confuse state rights with secession, just as the free traders confuse opposition to the internal revenue system with opposition to tariff reform.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

Mr. Blaine is at Venice. As everything in that beautiful city is "watered," even the streets, it is suggested that Mr. Gould may join his friend from Maine.—New York Herald.

Modest Men.

The truth is this is no kind of a world for quiet, peaceable, steady, humble, modest men. You may think there aren't any, but there are. I am not saying that they are plentiful. I am not saying that they are to be found lying around loose, inviting attention. No, but there are such men. You may not have expected to find them, and you know one always doubts the existence for a moment of what he does not expect. Perhaps it may be a discovery. But anyway there's nobody so thoroughly to be sympathized with as the humble, meek, modest man who only asks to be allowed to live his own life and be let alone. I guess it must be because he is so rare an animal that everybody immediately takes to him and makes a great deal of him, until he ends by being a conceited ass and loses himself in the vast mass of conceited asses. I heard a fellow once give his own version of a little trouble he had had. In fact, from what he said I understood that he had been arrested and fined for a little fight he had.

He was a small fellow, and his antagonist was about six feet four and a fighter.

"Look at me," the little fellow said. "Do I look like a quarrelsome man? Well I ain't. I goes my own way peaceable and quiet, and never interferin' with anybody's business, and they fined me for assaultin' a man six feet four. Why, I couldn't get up to him—if I could I'd have battered the life out of him, you bet. I was in the saloon when this tall fellow began bullyin' me. I'm the most harmless man livin'. I wouldn't hit a boy, I wouldn't. He began bullyin' me. Well, I says, look here, I'm a quiet, law abidin' man. You want to fight, I see. I ain't goin' to fight. I called you a liar? Maybe, I did. But you can hit me if you like. I ain't agoin' to fight, an' I call you fellows to witness he did the fightin'. 'You called me a liar,' says the man, 'an' I'm goin' to lick you, do you hear?' 'I hear you', says I; 'I hear you; an' I calls them fellers to witness, for I'll have you arrested, an' they'll prove as I didn't fight.' 'Then," said the little man, "I hit him between the eyes and on the nose and under the chin, an' I bunged him all up, an' he calls a policeman, has me took up an' all them fellers goes down an' swears I hit him first, Circumstantial evidence ain't worth a cuss anyway."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Fashionable Kleptomaniacs.

A fashionable jeweler, in conversation with a reporter, said: "Even our most pretentious customers will bear watching: such, at least, is the result of my experience. The other day there drew up at my door a fashionable victoria, drawn by a spanking bobtailed team, guided by an orthodox English 'Jeems.' From it alighted two handsomely dressed ladies, evidently mother and daughter. After looking through my stock of watches they finally selected a very handsome and expensive one, and paid for it from a well-filled purse carried by the elder woman. Thinking I had a bonanza in my customers, I pulled out my handsomest diamond tray and begged them to look it over. Before my very eyes the elder of the two took up a valuable pin containing nearly twenty fine gems and placed it quickly in her satchel.

"The humor of the situation struck me so forcibly that I voluntarily smiled as I asked her if she had not put the pin in the wrong place. 'What pin?' she demanded, in apparent surprise.

"I reached over, opened her bag, and took my pin therefrom without saying a word, put my goods back in the case and bowed them out.

"Prosecute? I guess not. I tried that once and the case cost me more than twice the value of the article taken. No, indeed; a woman will swear until she is black in the face that the article caught on her sleeve, that it dropped into her bag by accident or that she put it in absent mindedly, while her influential friends and relatives will leave no stone unturned to have her acquitted and to injure the store-keeper as much as possible.

"I admit it is plainly my duty to prosecute in every case of this character, but I sacrificed myself once to this way and shall think twice before I do so again."—Jewelers' Weekly.

For Animals.

Mange, Distemper, Diarrhœa and Worms in dogs quickly cured. Scratches, Sores, Galls, Bruises, Cuts or Wounds of any kind quickly and permanently healed by washing with the Fluid. Dr. J. Hough, the distinguished veterinary surgeon, says: "I find Darbys Prophylactic Fluid all that it is represented. As a local application I believe it to be without an equal." For Colic and Scours it acts like magic.

Favorite Hymns.

The Christian Union lately invited its readers to send in lists containing what in their judgment were the best 100 hymns in the English language. More than 3,400 lists were received. The first hymn upon the larger number of lists was Toplady's "Rock of Ages," having received 3,215 votes. The second in point of popularity was Lyle's "Abide with Me;" the third, Wesley's "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." A hymn which is greatly liked and widely sung, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," occupied only the sixty-ninth place on the lists. The lists contain hymns from fifty-five different authors, and among these Dr. Watts and Charles Wesley stand at the head, each contributing seven hymns. Strangely enough, in the summary as given by the Christian Union we do not find Newman's hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," which seems to us the very foremost.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

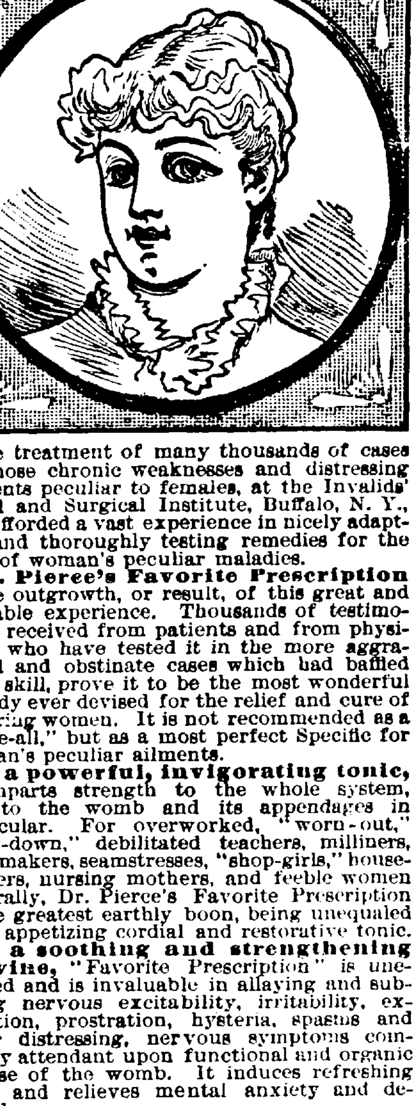
"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McElroy, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator, very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. James. M. Rollins, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa



The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A LEAP YEAR PROPOSAL.

Uncle Sam—Thanks, madame, but I've made other arrangements.

THE CARLISLE CASE.

Peculiar Plea from the Party That Stole the Presidency.

"If his sense of honor," says The New York Tribune, "were as keen as has sometimes been supposed, he would insist on the most thorough investigation possible."

This refers to Speaker Carlisle and the efforts of the men who have been using Mr. Thobe in an effort to reopen the contested election in the Sixth district of Kentucky.

The object of the Republicans in congress in making Thobe a party issue, and in clamoring for another hearing and a second investigation of the vote of the Sixth district, on the pretext that Thobe's counsel did not serve him well in the first prosecution of the contest, has been twofold. The minority wants to annoy the speaker, and it wants to cultivate the labor vote. That is why Mr. J. Hale Sypher, late of Louisiana, was able to swing the Republicans into line behind Thobe and his unfounded and disproved claims.

The cry for fair play and justice, and the pretended solicitude for the sanctity of the ballot are pure humbug, so far as J. Hale Sypher and the Republican minority are concerned. This impudent plea, and the still more impudent insinuation that Mr. Carlisle's honor requires him to lend a helping hand to Thobe now, comes with peculiar force from the party that stole the presidency a few years ago, and from the journals that defended that crime and fought tooth and nail against any investigation of the facts.

We do not believe there is an honest man in the United States, however radically he may differ from the speaker in matters of political opinion, who doubts that Mr. Carlisle's course in this matter has been governed and will continue to be governed by the most scrupulous considerations of right and the finest sense of personal honor.—New York Sun

Can't Buck Against the People's Will.

The termination of the absurd contest of Mr. Thoebe for the seat of Speaker Carlisle removes one of the obstacles to the prompt discharge of the chief duty of the house of representatives. Now let congress press forward in the work of tax reduction and tariff reform. The Republican policy of obstruction failed to secure the unanimous vote of that party, as, notwithstanding the refusal of the great majority of Republican members to vote, the necessary quorum was made up by seven Republicans, while others, who had the pluck to take a more direct position on the right side, were included among the 164 that recorded their names in favor of finally awarding the seat to Speaker Carlisle. This conclusion in the house, like that of the senate on the confirmation of Justice Lamar, is full of encouragement, as showing that the Republican extremists cannot control their own party against the evident will of the country.—New York Star.

A Piece of Republican Foolishness.

The Democrats having secured a quorum in the house ready to vote on the question of Mr. Carlisle's title to his seat, no further obstruction was offered by the Republicans, six of whom voted with the majority. Though the form of filibustering adopted by the Republicans was not of the extremest type, it is generally recognized by the soberer among them that it was an extremely foolish piece of work. Its real purpose was, undoubtedly, to win the approval and sentiment of the "labor" element in politics, of which Mr. Thobe was a professed representative. This, in fact, was practically admitted by Mr. Cabot Lodge in his speech on the main question. There is room for argument as to the political expediency of this sort of tactics, but the Republican leaders are so hard pressed just now that it would be unmerciful to hold them to too high a standard.—New York Times.

Pure Demagogy Only.

There is not a Republican in the house who does not know that Speaker Carlisle would not take or hold a seat to which he did not feel himself to be honestly entitled. They had not the courage to vote against awarding him the seat, but meanly refrained from voting out of pure partisan demagogy.—New York World.

Luckier Than the Three R's.

Some hopeful Republican has evolved a theory that his ticket will be elected this year, because "the year with three eights in it is lucky to the Republicans." In view of the failure of the political records to show a Republican victory in A. D. 888, or 888, 1888 or 2888 B. C., this view is evidently founded on the conviction that the year with three eights in it must be luckier than the year with three R's in it.—Pittsburg Despatch.

An Able Substitute.

The Democrats of the house are fortunate that they have so able and capable a man as Mr. Cox to put in Speaker Carlisle's place during the latter's temporary illness.—Trenton (N. J.) True American.

A Strange Thing.

Mr. Blaine must have had a relapse. It is now a full week since he interviewed himself on any subject, and the cable rates lower than ever before.—Philadelphia Times.

A Prediction.

The president now measures fifty-six inches around the waist, but he will look twice as big as that to the bulging eyes of the Blaine crowd next fall.—Chicago Herald.

Or Chicago.

As a natural gas center, Governor Foraker is believed to rival Pittsburg.—Life.

Rev. Whangdoodle Baxter on "Terbacker."

De subject ob dis ebenin's discourse am de wice ob terbacker.

On dis heah subjec' dar's a great diffunce of erpinyun wedder or not terbacker am calkerlate ter injure de human frame, and permote premature insalubrity or oderwise.

Fur one, I'se not erposed ter smokin' cigerettes, sence I heered dat hit kills off de doodes. De smoke ob de cigerette am no doubt de bes' disinfectant. No self-respectin' cholera germ or yaller feeber germ would stay in de naborhood whar dar was one ob dose cigarette suckers. Dar may be cigarettes what has good terbacker in 'em, but dey ain't made in dis kentry.

Talking about cigars, I mus' tell yer a story about Sam Johnsing. He was employed as a sarvant by Kurnel Yerger, and de Kurnel he cotched Sam smoking one ob his fine Conneterkut cigars. Kurnel Yerger was gwinter cuss Sam out, when dat niggah spoke up and says: "Ef dermestic cigars ain't intended fur de use op dermestics whaffor am dey called by our name for?"

Dat broke de Kurnel all up.

Terbacker was first interdooced inter England by Sir Walter Rawley, but his appertite for smoking was interfered wid by his having his head cut off. Dis goes ter show de unhealfulness ob terbacker.

I knows anoder instance ob de unhealfulness ob terbacker. Hit killed a niggar in Houston so dead he nebber kicked. A hogshead ob de stuff fell on him from de second story ob de warehouse.

Den, agin, smoking has hits advanterges. De cannibals in de Souf Sea Island what eats de mishunaries we sends 'em nebber teches de meat ob a man who has been in de habit ob chowin' terbacker.

I heahs a heap a talk about de money de man who don't use terbacker sabes up in a yeah, but ef yer wanter stump him jess ask him ter show yer de money.

Dar's a great deal ob smokin' what hasn't got nuffin ter do wid terbacker. In der langwidge ob Tom Chrystal, ob de Sunday Morning New York Journal, dar's a tendency ter palm oft oleocabinage cigars fer de generwine Havanner.

Hit's no use ter preach erbout de evils ob terbacker so long as dar am in ebery communerty a man who nebber uses terbacker in no shape, and who am so triflin' and wuffless dat he ain't wuff de powder hit would take ter shoot him.—Texas Siftings.

The Word "Dollar."

Our word dollar dates back to 1785, when a resolution was passed by Congress which provided that it should be a unit of money in the United States. Another resolution was passed in 1785, August 5, providing that it should weigh 375.64 grains of pure silver. The mint was established in 1791, and then required to coin silver dollars containing 371.25 grains of pure silver. This was due to the efforts of Alexander Hamilton. No dollars were coined until 1794, and then irregular. They are now worth $100 each. In 1794 the coinage of regular dollars began. Our coin was an adaptation of the Spanish milled dollar, a coin very popular wherever the Spaniards traveled. The coin was called "piastre," meaning a flat piece of metal; it is synonymous with plaster. It is supposed that the Spaniards took the German "thaler" and called it by the name of "piaster." The word dollar is entered in Bailey's English Dictionary in 1745, and was used repeatedly by Shakespeare at the beginning of the seventeenth century, especially in "Macbeth" ii: 2. 62: "Till she disbursed * * * $10,000 to our general use." (See also the "Tempest," ii: 1, 17.)

The question where Shakespeare found the word dollar is answered by the fact that the Hanseatic towns maintained a great establishment called the Steel Yard in London. The Steel Yard merchants were mostly North Germans, who would call the German thaler as if it was spelled "dah-ler." The same merchants originated the word sterling, an abbreviation of the "esterling." As the Hanseatic trade was particularly brisk on the Baltic and in Russia the standard coins of the Hanse merchants were called esterlings, and sterling came to mean something genuine and desirable. The word dollar is the English for thaler, the first of which was coined about 1485, and corresponds quite closely to our present American silver dollars. The word thaler means coming from a dale or valley, the first dollar having been coined in a Bohemian valley called Joachimsthal. It was under Charles V., Emperor of Germany, King of Spain and lord of Spanish America that the German thaler became the coin of the world.—The Financier.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Profs. Trowbridge and Hutchins of Harvard College report that their extensive and careful researches tend to disprove the view that oxygen exists in any part of the sun.

What is probably the first recorded photograph of a rainbow has been exhibited to the Photographic Association of London. The arch has the appearance in the proof of something solid like an arch of wood.

The scientific boring in the soil of the Nile Delta has reached a depth of over 308 feet without finding the rock. A four-inch layer of blue clay has just been penetrated, the overlying soil from a depth of 190 feet being sand.

Certain hollows in hard sandstone near Lima, Peru, were ascribed by Lyell to ancient sea-action before the rocks were elevated above ocean level. A resident observer, however, finds the hollows to be still increasing in size and number, and believes them to be due to cleavage caused by the growth of lichens which live on the rocks.

The common puff-ball strikingly illustrates the rapidity with which fungi may multiply. It is said that 300 years would be required for a man to count the spores of a single ball, if it were possible to continue the counting day and night for that time. Yet a favorably planted spore will produce a plant as large as the double first in a single night.

In a paper on injurious insects, Prof. J. A. Lintner placed the total number of insect species in the world at 320,000. Of those found in the United States, 7,000 or 8,000 species are fruit pests, and at least 210 attack the apple. A borer which has hitherto troubled only peach and plum trees has begun to destroy the apple within the past two years. The successful fruit grower must be something of an entomologist.

Dr. Littlewood describes in the Lancet a method which he has used successfully in seven cases for the removal of needles from the body. The part supposed to contain the needle is thoroughly rubbed over with an electro-magnet, so as to magnetize the metal, if present. A delicately balanced magnetic needle is held over the part. If the needle is present, its position can be ascertained by the attraction or repulsion of the poles of the magnetic needle. Having ascertained the presence of the needle and rendered the part bloodless and painless, an incision is made over the needle. The electro-magnet is then inserted in the wound, and the needle is felt for and withdrawn. If the needle is firmly imbedded, the positive pole of the galvanic battery is placed on the surface of the body of the patient, and the negative pole in contact with the needle, which becomes loosened by electrolysis, and can then be easily removed by the electro-magnet.

Judge S. M. Hench has a letter from his brother, Mr. John M. Hench, who is engaged in the practice of law at Culbertson, Neb. He reports the total destruction of their fine law library the other night by fire. Mr. Hench is married now and is settled down to the comforts of life.

Timothy O'Connor, a book peddler, was tried before Justice France and a jury yesterday afternoon, for assaulting Officer Sheridan at Mrs. Driscoll's cafe The jury convicted the book peddler and fined him $1 and costs which with attorney's fees come high and knock the profits of the book business into thin air. Mr. O'Connor has, however, appealed the case to the circuit court.

The Business Men's Exchange at a special meeting last night, gave the banquet committee further time to report. Mr. J. M. Osborne, the commercial agent of the Wabash road, was at the meeting with Mr. C. H. Newton. He was called on for a speech and responded by paying a handsome tribute to Fort Wayne. He said there were better evidences of growth and prosperity here than any city in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois could boast of. Mr. Osborne is a pleasant gentleman and has a great store of information.

FLAMES' WORK.

The Buildings of the Virginia Penitentiary Destroyed by Fire—The Fiend Elsewhere.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 31.—Soon after five this morning the buildings of the Virginia penitentiary, leased by the Davis shoe company of Boston, and operated as a shoe factory, was discovered on fire. The flames spread rapidly and the buildings were totally destroyed, with all the machinery and stock. The loss to the shoe company is estimated from $150,000 to $175,000. Buildings were state property. Loss $25,000.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 31.—J. J. Blackmore & Co.'s hardware and house furnishing establishment burned to-day. Loss, $30,000; insurance, $15,000. William Hillers, aged 65, while watching the fire, dropped dead.

GOING MAD.

The Wild Ravings of a Girl Who Had Been Bitten by a Dog.

BELLAIR, MICH., Jan. 31.—While Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Woolsey where visiting relatives in Southern Michigan last August, a dog ran upon the veranda, and Lillie Woolsey, the doctor's little daughter, went out to play with it. She stooped over to pat his head, when the brute snapped at her and one tooth slightly abraided the skin near the nose. The usual precautions were taken. A few days ago Lillie, who is ten years old, showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and she is now unable to control her actions. She is violent, and when not restrained, runs about biting and snapping like a dog. She glares with the ferocity of an angry animal, writhes in agony, froths at the mouth, and is rapidly developing the final stages of the terrible disease.

At times she is possessed of the strength of two men and it is very difficult to restrain her. In her calm moments she realizes the danger of her parents and begs them to look out while she is in her paroxysms. She says she feels like biting everybody, and although in her spasms recognizing her parents, is unable to control her desire to snap at them. Death must soon relieve the little one.

BLAINE AND CLEVELAND.

The Views of a Millionaire Republican on the Two Party Leaders.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 31.—Charles A. Pillsbury, the well-known millionaire and political boss, who knows a thing or two about politics, has just returned from an extended eastern trip. He sits down on the fond hopes of Mr. Blaine and the Blaine boomers in vigorous style. Here are some of the things he said:

"Blaine can not be elected, and his nomination means defeat. Personally, I don't want to see him president. The young men who do the whooping up do a good deal of talking for Blaine, but the older heads don't agree with them.

"Cleveland is the favorite with his party, and will get another nomination certainly. Very few are sanguine enough to think Blaine could carry New York—in fact, they rather think it would go overwhelmingly for Cleveland. The anti-Blaine men are good republicans, but they distrust Blaine and his policy. If the issue were Blaine or Cleveland, most of them would vote for Cleveland. Conservative republicans think that an entirely new candidate must be nominated—some, at present, dark horse, and with such a man at the head of the ticket, a good, clean man, there will be no doubt of a republican victory. I think the tariff reform is going to cut both ways next fall. Every one is glad the issue was forced by the president, but for different reasons. A fair judgement, I think, is that it will almost recreate party lines. They will be divided on a new basis, and a generous slice will be cut from each."

Columbus Teacher Suicides.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—Eugene Tafele, principal of a Columbus school, who drew about $800 in money due his teachers Friday and disappeared, suicided at the new Johnson house by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. He left letters stating that he had gambled away the money at a room managed be Long and Wyat, on High street, and chose death rather than go to the penitentiary. A dispatch from Columbus states that Frank Wyat, the gambler, on learning of the suicide, hunted up a detective and turned over to him $600 lost Friday by a man supposed to be Tafele, and requested that it be paid to the teachers if it proved he was the man.

WASHINGTON!

What was Done at the National Capital To-day—The Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The house committee on naval affairs to-day ordered a favorable report on Representative Boutelle's bill to relieve from the charge of desertion the enlisted and appointed men in the navy and marine corps who served faithfully until the expiration of their terms of enlistment, or were prevented from completing their terms of service, or by reason of disability contracted in the service, or by absence from command at the time they were entitled to a discharge.

THE OLDEST MINISTER.

Rev. David Lathrop Hunn Dies in Buffalo at the Age of Ninety-eight.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Rev. David Lathrop Hunn, the eldest graduate of Yale college, and the oldest clergyman of the United States, died Sunday, after a week's illness. He was slightly blind and deaf, but preserved his facualties almost to the last, having preserved his membership in the Rochester Presbytery and preached within two years to the grandchildren of his former parishioners at Sandrich, Conn. He was first a Congregational minister, but embraced Presbyterianism many years ago. Rev. Mr. Hunn celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday on November 5 last, when he talked freely with his visitors and seemed to take considerable interest in current events. His only antipathy was to Sunday newspapers.

Blue for White.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Things look a little blue for Congressman White, of the Fort Wayne district. The republicans may stand by him with a solid front, but they have rather poor ground to stand on, so far as has been yet developed. White has been unable to prove, so far, by the necessary kind of evidence, that he was naturalized before he was elected to congress. Even the fact that he served in the army does not seem likely to prove of value to him in this matter.

Foreign News.

DUBLIN, Jan., 31.—Michael Davitt, speaking at Rathkeale to-day, advised the tenants of Lord Gullimore not to accept the offer made to them to purchase their farms, because heavy burdens would soon accrue, and mortgages would turn the farms over again to other hands, and also because Lord Gullimore had evicted two tenants from his estate.

Big Cigar Factory.

KEY WEST, Fla., 31.—Eduardo H. Gato, the "king of Havana cigar manufacturers," will shortly build in this city the largest cigar manufactory in the United States. The building is to be of brick, iron and stone, with a capacity of 200,000 cigars a day. The Cuban troubles, it is said, was one cause of the removal.

RAPID CITY, Dak., Jan. 31.—Yesterday two cowboys named Arthur and Potts, attempted to run the town of Buffalo Gap, a station on the Elkhorn road, forty miles south of here, when the citizens turned out in full force and killed both of them. Who fired the shots no one knows or wants to know.

Hopkin's Trial.

THE ICE GORGE

In the Mississippi River Breaks at St. Louis and Crashes Into $1,500,000 Worth of Property.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—The ice gorge in front of the city began to move at midnight last night, but stopped until 10 o'clock this morning, when the January thaw loosened the mass and it slowly crashed down upon nearly $1,500,000 worth of property, which it is now slowly grinding into ruins.

The ice is piled up from eighteen to twenty feet thick already. Several barges have been sunk and also the steamers Tamm, Mattie Belle, and Hayes. The Hayes, the large excursion steamer, the property of the anchor line, is a total wreck, valued at $80,000. The Mattie Belle is a fine large freight boat. The Tamm was a ferry boat. The wharf boat of the Alton and Grafton railroad company was swept away. The steamer City of Monroe snapped her lines at noon and is a wreck. Captain Mason and Mr. Zeeberger were badly injured.

As will be seen by an advertisement, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue, Root & Co., have decided to continue their cost sale during the remainder of this week. Their stock comprises everything in the market, and those who wish to take advantage of their low prices should visit the store this week.

The great cost sale of Root and company will continue during the balance of the week, owing to their inability to commence inventory before next Monday. Every article in their mammoth establishment is sold at cost during that time and customers should avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to secure bargains in the best of goods.

The Journal this morning in its attack on Dr. J. S. Irwin, superintendent of the public schools, does that gentleman great injustice. Dr. Irwin, in enforcing the sanitary school regulations, Dr. Stemen tells us, has simply complied with the state law and observed the rules promulgated by the state board of health. Dr. Irwin is out of the city at present, at the bedside of his sick daughter and not able to reply to the Journal article. We feel that our cotemporary will give him an opportunity to set himself right, for he certainly can do it.

The Young Horse Thieves Arraigned in Court.

Last night Sheriff Viberg and his deputy, Mr. Tom Wilkinson, came in from Churubusco with Nathan and Dan Amstead, the young men who stole a mare from Fred Lehncke, of Lake township, Sunday night.

They were arraigned before Justice France this morning and in default of $1,000 bail in each case, they were remanded to jail for trial.

The boys say they stole the wrong animal and claim that their home is in Noble county.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

But He Was Compelled to do it to Save Other Members of the Family.

WATERVILLE, ME., Jan. 31.—Yesterday at Center Sidney, a town adjoining Augusta, Edward Wentworth, 40 years old, was fatally shot. He had a family of thirteen children, all of whom were at home except one. He Has very cruel to them.

Sunday evening, after beating his wife, he struck a daughter and threw her down and was choking her, when his wife remonstrated. He leaped up, exclaiming: "I will kill you! I will kill all of you!" He started to get a revolver, but one of his sons grabbed it and put a bullet through his father's heart.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 31.—The carpenters have notified their employers that on the of first May next they will demand an advance in wages of ten per cent.

ENJOINED AGAIN.

Judge Chapin Says the Council Shall Not Impeach the Water Works Trustees.

At four o'clock last evening T. B. Hedekin, J. F. W. Meyer and E. B. Kunckle, the water works trustees, applied to Judge A. A. Chapin for an order straining the city council from going ahead with the impeachment proceedings it proposed to institute against them this evening.

The question was vigorously argued and taken under advisement until 11 o'clock this morning. The judge, at that hour, reviewed the case in all its bearings. He absolved the trustees from intended wrong, did the same handsome thing for the council with a desire to soften feelings but because he did not believe the charges against the trustees constituted malfeasance in office, he denied the council's right to try the trustees and issued a restraining order until February 21, when he expressed a willingness to air the case again.

City Attorney Colerick denied Judge Chapin's jurisdiction in the matter and will at once appeal the case to the supreme court of the state.

The council will not impeach anybody to-night, and it is probable that the angry controversy may be compromised. It would not be a bad way out of the difficulty, for it seems there is no end to injunctions.

BIG DAMAGE SUITS.

Jacob Felger and Henry Bredemeyer Want $5,000 Each.

This morning, Jacob Felger, a Lake township farmer, filed suit against the Peters Box and Lumber company to recover $5,000. Mr. O. N. Heaton penned the complaint and relates how a team of horses belonging to the company were permitted to stand untied on Calhoun street. The animals ran away, it will be be recalled, and at the corner of Main street they ran into and trampled upon Mr. Felger while he was crossing the street. His ribs were fractured and he was otherwise hurt.

Henry Bredemeyer, through his attorney, Mr. W. P. Breen, sues John and Henry Taylor for $5,000. They run the old Jacoby planing mill, where the claimant was employed to operate a machine. He alleges the company did not give him assistance and in the discharge of his duties, November 25, last, the fingers and thumb of his right hand were cut off by the planer knives. He prays for the relief stated.

Since writing the above another damage suit is recorded. Adolph S. Deutsche sues Weil Brothers, the hide dealers, to recover $1,500 damages. He claims that the Messrs. Weil deceived him in goods they sold to him. Randall & Vesey are attorneys for the claimant.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

General Manager Williams and Party Visit the Nickel Plate Shops—The News Budget.

Lewis Hudry, an apprentice boy in the Bass foundry, is on the sick list.

The railroad ticket agents say passenger business is picking up somewhat.

The Bass works have placed a new six foot grind stone in the machine shops.

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad company will build a new depot at Wooster, O.

Charles Hensell, the resident engineer of the Wabash road at Springfield, Ill., was in the city yesterday.

D. H. Caldwell, of the Nickel Plate dispatcher's office, is confined to his bed, threatened with an attack of pleuro-pneumonia.

P. H. Hartman, a helper in the moulding rooms of the Bass foundry, is being congratulated over the arrival of a girl baby at his home.

The clerks in the Pittsburg works have completed their monthly reports and sent them into Shop Clerk Meegan's office.

There are a number of prominent railroad men who take an active interest in the Young Men's Christian association.

The boys in the Nickel Plate shops were on their good behavior yesterday when the big moguls of the road passed through.

O. B. Higgins, the chief clerk in Superintendent Law's office, is at home in operating a telegraph instrument and frequently sends his own telegraph messages.

Charles Cherry, of Shop Clerk Meghan's office, is at the desk in the office of the Pittsburg machine shops during the absence of J. H. Sloan at Englewood. He is the acting clerk of the department.

To-morrow the Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw company will move its headquarters from Van Wert to Toledo. A. H. Johnson will be given the title of traffic manager and will look after both freight and passenger business.

One half of the employes of the Wabash shops were off duty yesterday and the other half to-day. The Wabash is afraid its pay roll will be too large for the month and this is the reason the men take turns in remaining idle.

J. H. Fry, the pleasant clerk in Storekeeper Cox's office of the Pennsylvania company, always has an orange on his desk when the reporter passes through the office. He is a great lover of the fruit.

Several well known train men started the new year with a temperance pledge and they have been true to it. They will be richer and happier at the end of the year if they keep it and will rise a hundred fold in the estimation of their employers.

Calvin S. Wheaton, grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway conductors, is still in Washington, looking after the conductor and engineer license bill, of which he is the father. He is said to be quite confident that the bill will pass during this session of congress.

Alexander Johst is an employe at the Bass Foundry and Machine works. Yesterday while he was at work repairing the turn table in the works a heavy piece of timber fell and mashed his foot quite severely. The injury will confine him to his home for some time. He lives on Oak street.

J. H. Sloan, the clerk in the Pittsburg shop, received a telegram from Englewood last night announcing that his wife's mother, Mrs. Sarah Hough, was dying. He left on the first train for her bed-side. Mrs. Hough is an estimable lady 75 years of age and her home is at Englewood. Mrs. Sloan has been with her mother during her sickness.

The latest returns show that 41,852 freight cars were built in this country last year at car shops. The last two years, reported in Poor's Manual, show six and a half freight cars per mile of road in this country. At this rate, the Railroad Gazette says, to keep pace with new railroad construction 103,000 cars should have been built last year. This in part accounts for the scarcity of cars during the last few months.

The largest and fastest passenger engine ever built is said to have been turned out of the Rhode Island locomotive works at Providence, for the New York, Providence and Boston Railroad company. She was designed to make the run from Providence to Groton, Conn., a distance of 62.5 miles including a dead stop at Mystic draw bridge, as required by the statutes of Connecticut, in just 62.5 minutes, pulling at the same time eight cars, four of them Pullmans.

General Manager Williams, accompanied by Superintendent of Motive Power John McKenzie, Master Mechanic W. H. Lewis and A. S. Work, general foreman of engineers and firemen, arrived in the city yesterday on No. 3. Mr. Williams' private car was attached to the train. The party was met here by Superintendent C. D. Gorman, who escorted the gentlemen to the company's works. After a close inspection of the departments the party returned to the city, remaining all night. Mr. Williams' private car was attached to No. 3 this afternoon, when the distinguished party left for Chicago, at which place they will make a tour of inspection of the company's mammoth works.

TUESDAY, JAN. 31, 1888.

The debate on the Lowry-White contest promises to be one of the events of congressional session.

THE New York Star claims to have information that the Bell Telephone company is about to enter the field of long distance telephoning in opposition to the Western Union telegraph. Misfortunes never come singly.

THE friends of Judge Gresham, of Indiana, are gently pushing forward his presidential "boom." They are inclined to think that Gresham is a good dark horse and likely to come under the wire first. Harrison will have the Indiana delegates to the Chicago convention, but Gresham's backers take comfort in the fact that the Ohio delegates were for Sherman in the convention which finally nominated Garfield.

IN view of the fact that there was a decrease in the cost of production last year and an increase in the selling price of coal, it is hardly surprising that the miners should ask for higher wages. The financial report of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company for 1887 shows a profit, after paying interest on the capitalization, of $1,448,482. That may not be enough to warrant a considerable increase in the wages of 20,000 men, but it is enough to suggest to the men that they ought to get more, especially as the price of coal has been largely advanced. If the company extorts monopoly prices, the men not unnaturally want a share of the spoil.

THE Indianapolis News, a republican journal, referring editorially to the Lowry-White contest advises a departure from the present mode of determining such cases. It says: "The decision in the Lowry-White case is denounced by republican papers as one dictated by partisanship at the expense of justice. It may be so. But it is pertinent to remember that in all the years in which the republicans had the control of things they never amended the conditions from which partisan decisions in such cases come. Like the democrats with the southern returning boards which they denounced so virtuously when worked against them, instead of abolishing them when they secured control they retained and worked them. So long as congress has the decision of contested election cases so long partisanship will mold the decision. The thing to do and do at once is to pass a law taking all such cases out of the hands of congress and put them in the courts where no exigencies of party can smother justice."

HON. JAMES S. ROLLINS, who died a few days ago at his home in Columbia, Mo., was for many years a prominent figure in Missouri politics, and was one of the most widely known men in the State. His career as a politician and a legislator was marked by many great deeds. He was born in Richmond, Ky., in 1812, and was 76 years of age when he died. He went with his parents to Missouri early in his youth, and with them settled in Boone County. He served several terms in the State Legislature, and in 1860 was sent to Congress. In 1862 he was sent to Congress again, and in this session he introduced the bill the outcome of which was the construction of the Union Pacific, the Kansas Pacific, and the Central Pacific Railroads. He was appointed one of the directors of the Union Pacific in 1867 by President Johnson. In 1868 his district sent him back to the State Senate, where he did good work until his withdrawl from active participation in politics. Mr. Rollins was an intensely patriotic Union man, one of the most prominent in the State, and was a firm adherent of the old Whig party when that party went out of existence. He was equally identified with the American party, which succeeded it, and on the dissolution of the American party he took sides with the Democratic party, being a great personal friend of Gen. Frank P. Blair. Mr. Rollins stood by the Democrats until the year 1880, when he cast his vote for Garfield, and in 1884 he voted for Blaine.

GERMAN is to be eliminated from the course of study in the public schools of St. Louis as the result of the elections for members of the School Board in that city a few months ago, when the question was made an issue. The report will be adopted beyond a doubt. Some years ago St. Louis was the model "German public school" city in America. In no other was the Teutonic tongue carried to such a degree of perfection, and in no other city were the results so satisfactory. But even then it was but a comparative, not an absolute, success. Even the children of German parents did not take to it very kindly, and for children of English-speaking parents the study was a profitless task. After leaving school they made no use of the smattering there acquired. The elimination of the study was called for long ago.

Aboit News.

Mr. Emri Sites of Green county, Ind., is visiting his brother, Mr. Mall Sites of this place.

Mrs. Wm. Trainer, an aged lady living a short distance east of here, is dangerously ill.

The next thing that Aboit will be apt to do is to sink a gas well, and if successfull can be piped to Fort Wayne very easily.

Mr. William Lahmon is lying at the point of death at his residence. Medical skill avails nothing in his case and the cancer in his stomach is rapidly growing larger.

John March, of Giddingsville, was much surprised the other morning when his eldest son came bouncing into his home. John threw up his hat, clapped his hands, and shouted, "Its a boy;" "Its a boy."

Mr. Samuel Ewart we are glad to hear is recovering from his long siege of sickness.

A party of our young folks went to a spelling school at Liberty last night in a big wagon. The next day complaints could be heard from every side about the roughness of the roads.

A serious accident occurred at Mr. Cal Bowman's last week. They were moving their saw mill engine, and in descending a steep and icy hill the neckyoke broke and the engine becoming unmanageable rolled over down the hill. Mr. Bowman estimates the dammage done to the engine at nearly $100.

CARPET BAGGER.

An Aboit Institute.

A township teachers' institute was held at the Centre school house in Lafayette township, Saturday, Jan. 21st 1888. Eight schools were represented by their teachers. After the customary opening by the trustee we were favored with a song of "Welcome" by a double quartette which was composed principally of teachers. After this the following officers were elected: Trustee, Bowersock; president, J. H. Aiken; secretary, H. E. Kelsey, critic. At 11 o'clock the exercises commenced by Miss Emma Kelsey, who explained grammar. After this Miss Gruber read quite an interesting essay upon "History." After being entertained by instrumental music the institute was adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon session was opened with music entitled, "Ha! ha! We've Stemed the Stream," by the quartet.

Mr. Keplinger explained simple interest and illustrated by placing problems upon the board.

F. L. Brock explained his method of teaching spelling.

Miss Clara Crawford showed how she taught geography.

J. H. Aiken endeavored to explain how to teach oral physiology.

H. E. Kelsey explained longitude and time.

Miss McGoogan favored us with an entertaining recitation.

Miss Isabel Crow talked upon school management. The institute closed with music, entitled, "We All Have a Very Bad Cold," by the quartet. There were quite a number of teachers present from other townships. Among them were Messrs. G. W. and S. D. Keim, Miss Kiser and Miss Ollie Guthrie. The institute adjourned to meet at some time in the near future.

A. BOWERSOCK, Pres.
JOHN H. AIKEN, Secy.

New Jersey has a Baptist minister who claims to have baptized more people than any other man in his church. The community in which he resides has been grieved over his stubborn cough that has interfered with his pastoral duties. A physician recommended Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and consequently there will be baptism in his church next Sunday.

Teachers' Institute.

The Pleasant township teachers' institute met at district No. 4, with W. S. McComb, of the Sheldon school, in the chair and a fine audience present. "How to Teach the First Reader Grade," was the subject of a creditable paper by Miss Jennie Webster.

Following this was a talk on the nervous system, by F. Kinerk.

Miss L. St. John then gave her method of teaching percentage, which was well received.

On motion of Mr. Kinerk, institute adjourned for dinner, after which, on reassembling, Miss Maggie Goshorn illustrated her method of teaching reading.

C. Winters then solved a problem in annual interest to illustrate his plan of teaching it.

"Practical Education" was the subject of a paper by R. D. Chenoweth.

W. S. McComb spoke on "The Use of the Dictionary."

W. F. Boehler favored the institute with a paper on "General Education."

The trustee, William Dalman, spoke of the day's work in very flattering terms, thanked the patrons for their presence and declared himself in favor of another "literary picnic."

The institute adjourned to meet Feb. 18, 1888, at district No. 2, Pleasant township.

R. D. CHENOWETH, Sec'y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by expelling impurity from the blood, which is the cause of the complaint. Give it a trial.

JOEL PARKER, the Democratic ex-Governor of New Jersey who died not long ago, weighed [illegible] pounds, and there is little doubt that his death was hastened by his enormous appetite. He always gratified his tastes to the uttermost, and never stooped to inquire whether an article of food was good for him or not. He was the wonder of the waiters at every hotel and restaurant where he dined. He invariably went twice through the bill of fare. He was the last to finish at a dinner, yet so admirable seemed his digestion that, after out-eating all the other guests, he could make a capital speech, full of unctuous humor and sound common sense. He drank very little, water being his favorite beverage, and therefore his head was always clear, even if his stomach was overloaded.

An Opportune Movement.

Castle Garden is known to be the gateway through which all the emigrants landing at New York pass before being distributed to various parts of the country. The great influx of foreigners can be judged when we take into account that eighty-four large steamships arrive every month and land their emigrants at this point. A new enterprise is being started at Castle Garden which proposes to establish an emigrant's home and industrial training school.

Mrs. R. S. Rust gives some idea of the proposed work in the following: "This movement is specially important in connection with the question of city evangelization. A large proportion of the vice and misery abounding in large cities is owing to such facts as these: The people depreciate the dignity of labor, are ignorant of any occupation by which an honest living may be secured, and of the economies essential to home making. Every avenue of employment offering any inducement is crowded by young women anxious to secure self support. A large majority of the applicants are unable to do anything well. It is not surprising that 10,000 girls a year are lost in the maelstrom of a single city. This wrong might be largely remedied if the youth were given industrial training, shown the advantage of a skilled labor, and assured of employment. If instruction could provided for girls in all branches of home service, cooking, sewing, dress making, in bookkeeping, stenography, type setting, etc., and provision could be made for distributing these trained workmen over the country where their skill and strength are in demand, incalculable good could be secured its young girls."—Chicago News.

Governor Gordon's Favorite Dishes.

Governor Gordon, of Georgia, on being asked to name his favorite dishes, said: "I was reared in the country on a farm, and have never ceased to prefer the living which was usual upon plantations before the war. I am fond of corn bread and rich milk and fresh butter, with all the usual products of the farm, especially sparerlbs, backbones and souse. My favorite dessert for summer is blackberry pie and for winter the old fashioned sweet potato pudding. I also keep up the habit of my early boyhood, not of hunting 'possums, but of buying one occasionally and having it cooked in the most approved style and laid away to get cold. I always have it cooked with sweet potatoes around it. This is not only the mode established by immemorial custom, but it is the best. I have one at my house now, already cooked. I will not admit, as is customary now, that the southern habit of having hot breads and hot batter cakes for breakfast is unwholesome. My own experience is that the most severe attacks of indigestion I ever had was from eating a cold luncheon. One of the cherished memories of my life was my experience with the little negroes and white boys around the fire hog killing days, broiling on the coal hog melts and eating them with corn bread and salt. I think it would make me ten years younger to have that sort of experience now."—Chicago News.

Facts Concerning Respiration.

According to Dr. Walshe, a medical writer of distinction, the agricultural woman, who is ignorant of stays, breathes more like a man than the town female. During sleep, too, the conditions of pectoral and ventral breathing of the female, he tells us, are much less strikingly different from those of the male in the waking state, the waist being, for the time, relieved from constriction. Of the lower animals, the male and female dog and the horse and mare breathe almost exactly alike. Dr. Mays, of Philadelphia, has also come to the conclusion, after a careful study of the respiratory movements of Indian girls in the Lincoln institution, who had always worn loose clothing, that, "so far as the Indian is concerned, the abdominal is the original type of respiration in both male and female, and that the costal type in the civilized female is developed through the constricting influence of dress around the abdomen."—New York Sun.

Danger of Centralization.

The tendency toward a paternal form of government at Washington in the last twenty five years has been marked and eminently mischievous. Such a form of government is more fatal to the welfare of our people than such even in any part of Europe. The centralized powers in Europe, geographically considered, are really specimens of home rule compared to ours. Abroad there is in each instance a compact body with a community of interests that places the government in direct contact with the governed. We, on the contrary, have a sparse population spread over a continent wide as all Europe, and to have such a power as this proposed at Washington, with all our diversity of interests to be legislated for, is to bind above us, under the name of a republic, a dense and odious despotism. It is not only death to liberty, but degradation, for it is done in violation of our written constitutional law.—New York Star.

Hale Proves Cleveland a Democrat.

On the whole, Mr. Hale's great effort must be called pretty small potatoes. The part of his speech which is mischievous or false need not be considered by fair minded men. The part which is essentially true, that is to say, his charge that Mr. Cleveland has been getting into harmony with the Democratic party, is a charge which the Democrats will admit to be a true bill, and they are glad of it.—New York Sun.

The Nation's Favorite.

Mrs. Cleveland's favorite flower is the lily of the valley, the sentiment of which is the "return of happiness." She has certainly returned a great deal of happiness in and around the capital, not to speak of many returns of the same in different parts of the country.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Books as a Substitute for Life.

Books are good enough in their own way, but they are a mighty bloodless substitute for life. It seems a pity to sit, like the Lady of Shalott, peering into a mirror, with your back turned on all the bustle and glamour of reality.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Some of the Republican organs are amazed to discover that the Republican supreme court is in favor of state rights. The organs confuse state rights with secession, just as the free traders confuse opposition to the internal revenue system with opposition to tariff reform.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

Mr. Blaine is at Venice. As everything in that beautiful city is "watered," even the streets, it is suggested that Mr. Gould may join his friend from Maine.—New York Herald.

Modest Men.

The truth is this is no kind of a world for quiet, peaceable, steady, humble, modest men. You may think there aren't any, but there are. I am not saying that they are plentiful. I am not saying that they are to be found lying around loose, inviting attention. No, but there are such men. You may not have expected to find them, and you know one always doubts the existence for a moment of what he does not expect. Perhaps it may be a discovery. But anyway there's nobody so thoroughly to be sympathized with as the humble, meek, modest man who only asks to be allowed to live his own life and be let alone. I guess it must be because he is so rare an animal that everybody immediately takes to him and makes a great deal of him, until he ends by being a conceited ass and loses himself in the vast mass of conceited asses. I heard a fellow once give his own version of a little trouble he had had. In fact, from what he said I understood that he had been arrested and fined for a little fight he had.

He was a small fellow, and his antagonist was about six feet four and a fighter.

"Look at me," the little fellow said. "Do I look like a quarrelsome man? Well I ain't. I goes my own way peaceable and quiet, and never interferin' with anybody's business, and they fined me for assaultin' a man six feet four. Why, I couldn't get up to him—if I could I'd have battered the life out of him, you bet. I was in the saloon when this tall fellow began bullyin' me. I'm the most harmless man livin'. I wouldn't hit a boy, I wouldn't. He began bullyin' me. Well, I says, look here, I'm a quiet, law abidin' man. You want to fight, I see. I ain't goin' to fight. I called you a liar? Maybe, I did. But you can hit me if you like. I ain't goin' to fight, an' I call you fellows to witness he did the fightin'. 'You called me a liar,' says the man, 'an' I'm goin' to lick you, do you hear?' 'I hear you', says I; 'I hear you; an' I calls them fellers to witness, for I'll have you arrested, an' they'll prove as I didn't fight.' 'Then," said the little man, "I hit him between the eyes and on the nose and under the chin, an' I bunged him all up, an' he calls a policeman, has me took up an' all them fellers goes down an' swears I hit him first. Circumstantial evidence ain't worth a cuss anyway."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Fashionable Kleptomaniacs.

A fashionable jeweler, in conversation with a reporter, said: "Even our most pretentious customers will bear watching; such, at least, is the result of my experience. The other day there drew up at my door a fashionable victoria, drawn by a spanking bobtailed team, guided by an orthodox English 'Jeems.' From it alighted two handsomely dressed ladies, evidently mother and daughter. After looking through my stock of watches they finally selected a very handsome and expensive one, and paid for it from a well-filled purse carried by the elder woman. Thinking I had a bonanza in my customers, I pulled out my handsomest diamond tray and begged them to look it over. Before my very eyes the elder of the two took up a valuable pin containing nearly twenty fine gems and placed it quickly in her satchel.

"The humor of the situation struck me so forcibly that I voluntarily smiled as I asked her if she had not put the pin in the wrong place. 'What pin?' she demanded, in apparent surprise.

"I reached over, opened her bag, and took my pin therefrom without saying a word, put my goods back in the case and bowed them out.

"Prosecute? I guess not. I tried that once and the case cost me more than twice the value of the article taken. No, indeed; a woman will swear until she is black in the face that the article caught on her sleeve, that it dropped into her bag by accident or that she put it in absent mindedly while her influential friends and relatives will leave no stone unturned to have her acquitted and to injure the store-keeper as much as possible.

"I admit it is plainly my duty to prosecute in every case of this character, but I sacrificed myself once to this idea and shall think twice before I do so again."—[illegible]

For Animals.

Mange, Distemper, Diarrhoea and Worms in dogs quickly cured. Scratches, Sores, Galls, Bruises, Cuts or Wounds of any kind quickly and permanently healed by washing with the Fluid. Dr. J. Hough, the distinguished veterinary surgeon, says: "I find Darbys Prophylactic Fluid all that it is represented. As a local application I believe it to be without an equal." For Colic and Scours it acts like magic.

Favorite Hymns.

The Christian Union lately invited its readers to send in lists containing what in their judgment were the best 100 hymns in the English language. More than 3,400 lists were received. The first hymn upon the larger number of lists was Toplady's "Rock of Ages," having received 3,215 votes. The second in point of popularity was Lyle's "Abide with Me," the third, Wesley's "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." A hymn which is greatly liked and widely sung, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," occupied only the sixty-ninth place on the lists. The lists contain hymns from fifty-five different authors, and among these Dr. Watts and Charles Wesley stand at the head, each contributing seven hymns. Strangely enough, in the summary as given by the Christian Union we do not find Newman's hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light" which seems to us the very foremost.

Wrong

To imagine that the treatment of Constipation consists merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. This is what Simmons Liver Regulator always does.

"As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels."—W. J. McElroy, Macon, Ga.

Believe us, when we tell you that most of the despondent feeling (the blues) is the effect of a Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Weakness of Stomach, and Nervousness. A dose of Simmons Liver Regulator invariably relieves, cures and prevents a re-occurrence.

"I find Simmons Liver Regulator very safe, harmless and valuable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and have found it to act like a charm, and I believe that if it was used in time, it would prove a great preventive of sickness. I have often recommended it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."—Rev. James M. Rollins, Fairfield, Va.

Simmons Liver Regulator is given with safety and with the happiest results, in almost any ailment, to the most delicate infant as well as to the adult. For all diseases in which a laxative, alterative, or purgative is needed, it will give the most perfect satisfaction. It is the cheapest, purest and best Family Medicine in the world.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

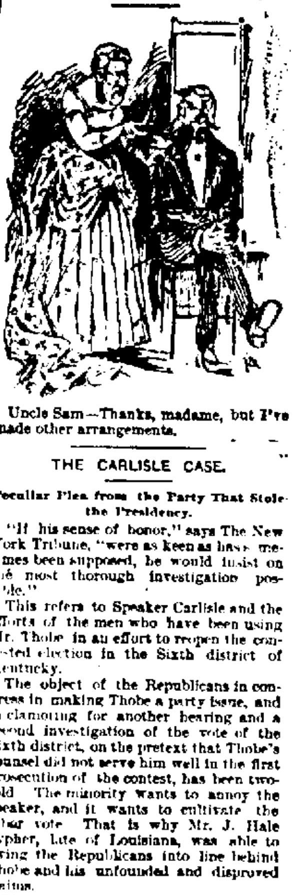
A LEAP YEAR PROPOSAL.



Uncle Sam—Thanks, madame, but I've made other arrangements.

THE CARLISLE CASE.

Peculiar Plea from the Party That Stole the Presidency.

"If his sense of honor," says The New York Tribune, "were as keen as has sometimes been supposed, he would insist on the most thorough investigation possible."

This refers to Speaker Carlisle and the efforts of the men who have been using Mr. Thobe in an effort to reopen the contested election in the Sixth district of Kentucky.

The object of the Republicans in congress in making Thobe a party issue, and in clamoring for another hearing and a second investigation of the vote of the Sixth district, on the pretext that Thobe's counsel did not serve him well in the first prosecution of the contest, has been twofold. The minority wants to annoy the speaker, and it wants to cultivate the labor vote. That is why Mr. J. Hale Sypher, late of Louisiana, was able to swing the Republicans into line behind Thobe and his unfounded and disproved claims.

The cry for fair play and justice, and the pretended solicitude for the sanctity of the ballot are pure humbug, so far as J. Hale Sypher and the Republican minority are concerned. This impudent plea, and the still more impudent insinuation that Mr. Carlisle's honor requires him to lend a helping hand to Thobe now, comes with peculiar force from the party that stole the presidency a few years ago, and from the journals that defended that crime and fought tooth and nail against any investigation of the facts.

We do not believe there is an honest man in the United States, however radically he may differ from the speaker in matters of political opinion, who doubts that Mr. Carlisle's course in this matter has been governed and will continue to be governed by the most scrupulous considerations of right and the finest sense of personal honor.—New York Sun

Can't Back Against the People's Will.

The termination of the absurd contest of Mr. Thoebe for the seat of Speaker Carlisle removes one of the obstacles to the prompt discharge of the chief duty of the house of representatives. Now let congress press forward in the work of tax reduction and tariff reform. The Republican policy of obstruction failed to secure the unanimous vote of that party, as, notwithstanding the refusal of the great majority of Republican members to vote, the necessary quorum was made up by seven Republicans, while others, who had the pluck to take a more direct position on the right side, were included among the 164 that recorded their names in favor of finally awarding the seat to Speaker Carlisle. This conclusion in the house, like that of the senate on the confirmation of Justice Lamar, is full of encouragement, as showing that the Republican extremists cannot control their own party against the evident will of the country.—New York Star.

A Piece of Republican Foolishness.

The Democrats having secured a quorum in the house ready to vote on the question of Mr. Carlisle's title to his seat, no further obstruction was offered by the Republicans, six of whom voted with the majority. Though the form of filibustering adopted by the Republicans was not of the extremest type, it is generally recognized by the soberer among them that it was an extremely foolish piece of work. Its real purpose was, undoubtedly, to win the approval and sentiment of the "labor" element in politics, of which Mr. Thobe was a professed representative. This, in fact, was practically admitted by Mr. Cabot Lodge in his speech on the main question. There is room for argument as to the political expediency of this sort of tactics, but the Republican leaders are so hard pressed just now that it would be unmerciful to hold them to too high a standard.—New York Times.

Pure Demagogy Only.

There is not a Republican in the house who does not know that Speaker Carlisle would not take or hold a seat to which he did not feel himself to be honestly entitled. They had not the courage to vote against awarding him the seat, but meanly refrained from voting out of pure partisan demagogy.—New York World.

Luckier Than the Three R's.

Some hopeful Republican has evolved a theory that his ticket will be elected this year, because "the year with three eights in it is lucky to the Republicans." In view of the failure of the political records to show a Republican victory in A. D. 888, or 888, 1888 or 2888 B. C., this view is evidently founded on the conviction that the year with three eights in it must be luckier than the year with three R's in it.—Pittsburg Despatch.

An Able Substitute.

The Democrats of the house are fortunate that they have so able and capable a man as Mr. Cox to put in Speaker Carlisle's place during the latter's temporary illness.—Trenton (N. J.) True American.

A Strange Thing.

Mr. Blaine must have had a relapse. It is now a full week since he interviewed himself on any subject, and the cable rates lower than ever before.—Philadelphia Times.

A Prediction.

The president now measures fifty-six inches around the waist, but he will look twice as big as that to the bulging eyes of the Blaine crowd next fall.—Chicago Herald.

Or Chicago.

Rev. Whangdoodle Baxter on "Terbacker."

De subject ob dis ebenin's discourse am de wice ob terbacker.

On dis heah subjec' dar's a great diffunce of erpinyun wedder or not terbacker am calkerlate ter injure de human frame, and permote premature insalubrity or oderwise.

Fur one, I'se not erposed ter smokin cigarettes, sence I heered dat hit kills off de doodes. De smoke ob de cigerette am no doubt de bes' disinfectant. No self-respectin' cholera germ or yaller feeber germ would stay in de naborhood whar dar was one ob dose cigarette suckers. Dar may be cigarettes what has good terbacker in 'em, but dey ain't made in dis kentry.

Talking about cigars, I mus' tell yer a story about Sam Johnsing. He was employed as a sarvant by Kurnel Yerger, and de Kurnel he cotched Sam smoking one ob his fine Connecterkut cigars. Kurnel Yerger was gwinter cuss Sam out, when dat niggah spoke up and says: "Ef dermestic cigars ain't intended fur de use op dermestics whaffor am dey called by our name for?"

Dat broke de Kurnel all up.

Terbacker was first interdooced inter England by Sir Walter Rawley, but his appertite for smoking was interfered wid by his having his head cut off. Dis goes ter show de unhealfulness ob terbacker.

I knows anoder instance ob de unhealfulness ob terbacker. Hit killed a niggar in Houston so dead he nebber kicked. A hogshead ob de stuff fell on him from de second story ob de warehouse.

Den, agin, smoking has hits advanterges. De cannibals in de Souf Sea Island what eats de mishunaries we sends 'em nebber teches de meat ob a man who has been in de habit ob chewin' terbacker.

I heahs a heap a talk about de money de man who don't use terbacker sabes up in a yeah, but ef yer wanter stump him jess ask him ter show yer de money.

Dar's a great deal ob smokin' what hasn't got nuffin ter do wid terbacker. In der langwidge ob Tom Chrystal, ob de Sunday Morning New York Journal, dar's a tendency ter palm off oleomargarine cigars fer de generwine Havanner.

The Word "Dollar."

Our word dollar dates back to 1785, when a resolution was passed by Congress which provided that it should be a unit of money in the United States. Another resolution was passed in 1785, August 5, providing that it should weigh 375.64 grains of pure silver. The mint was established in 1791, and then required to coin silver dollars containing 371.25 grains of pure silver. This was due to the efforts of Alexander Hamilton. No dollars were coined until 1794, and then irregular. They are now worth $100 each. In 1794 the coinage of regular dollars began. Our coin was an adaptation of the Spanish milled dollar, a coin very popular wherever the Spaniards traveled. The coin was called "piastre," meaning a flat piece of metal; it is synonymous with plaster. It is supposed that the Spaniards took the German "thaler" and called it by the name of "piaster." The word dollar is entered in Bailey's English Dictionary in 1745, and was used repeatedly by Shakespeare at the beginning of the seventeenth century, especially in "Macbeth" ii: 2. 62: "Till she disbursed * * * $10,000 to our general use." (See also the "Tempest," ii: 1, 17.)

The question where Shakespeare found the word dollar is answered by the fact that the Hanseatic towns maintained a great establishment called the Steel Yard in London. The Steel Yard merchants were mostly North Germans, who would call the German thaler as if it was spelled "dah-ler." The same merchants originated the word sterling, an abbreviation of the "Easterling." As the Hanseatic trade was particularly brisk on the Baltic and in Russia the standard coins of the Hanse merchants were called esterlings, and sterling came to mean something genuine and desirable. The word dollar is the English for thaler, the first of which was coined about 1485, and corresponds quite closely to our present American silver dollars. The word thaler means coming from a dale or valley, the first dollar having been coined in a Bohemian valley called Joachimsthal. It was under Charles V., Emperor of Germany, King of Spain and lord of Spanish America that the German thaler became the coin of the world.—The Financier.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Profs. Trowbridge and Hutchins of Harvard College report that their extensive and careful researches tend to disprove the view that oxygen exists in any part of the sun.

What is probably the first recorded photograph of a rainbow has been exhibited to the Photographic Association of London. The arch has the appearance in the proof of something solid like an arch of wood.

The scientific boring in the soil of the Nile Delta has reached a depth of over 398 feet without finding the rock. A four-inch layer of blue clay has just been penetrated, the overlying soil from a depth of 180 feet being sand.

Certain hollows in hard sandstone near Lima, Peru, were ascribed by Lyell to ancient sea-action before the rocks were elevated above ocean level. A resident observer, however, finds the hollows to be still increasing in size and number, and believes them to be due to cleavage caused by the growth of lichens which live on the rocks.

The common puff-ball strikingly illustrates the rapidity with which fungi may multiply. It is said that 500 years would be required for a man to count the spores of a single ball, if it were possible to continue the counting day and night for that time. Yet a favorably planted spore will produce a plant as large as the double first in a single night.

In a paper on injurious insects, Prof. J. A. Lintner placed the total number of insect species in the world at 320,000. Of those found in the United States, 7,000 or 8,000 species are fruit pests, and at least 210 attack the apple. A borer which has hitherto troubled only peach and plum trees has begun to destroy the apple within the past two years. The successful fruit grower must be something of an entomologist.

Dr. Littlewood describes in the Lancet a method which he has used successfully in seven cases for the removal of needles from the body. The part supposed to contain the needle is thoroughly rubbed over with an electro-magnet, so as to magnetize the metal, if present. A delicately balanced magnetic needle is held over the part. If the needle is present, its position can be ascertained by the attraction or repulsion of the poles of the magnetic needle. Having ascertained the presence of the needle and rendered the part bloodless and painless, an incision is made over the needle. The electro-magnet is then inserted in the wound, and the needle is felt for and withdrawn. If the needle is firmly imbedded, the positive pole of the galvanic battery is placed on the surface of the body of the patient, and the negative pole in contact with the needle, which becomes loosened by electrolysis, and can then be easily removed by the electro-magnet.
